Call for Papers
The Fifth International Conference on Logic, Rationality and Interaction (LORI-V)
October 28-31, 2015
Taipei, Taiwan

The International Conference on Logic, Rationality and Interaction (LORI) conference series aims at bringing together researchers working on a wide variety of logic-related fields that concern the understanding of rationality and interaction. The series aims at fostering a view of Logic as an interdisciplinary endeavor, and supports the creation of an East-Asian community of interdisciplinary researchers.

We invite submission of contributed papers on any of the broad themes of the LORI series; specific topics of interest include, but are not limited to, formal approaches to

- agency
- cooperation
- games
- epistemology
- interaction
- rationality
- social choice

- argumentation and agreement
- belief revision and belief merging
- decision making and planning
- dynamics of informational attitudes
- norms and normative systems
- philosophy and philosophical logic
- probability and uncertainty
- intentions, plans, and goals

- belief representation
- strategic reasoning
- knowledge and action
- knowledge representation
- natural language
- preference and utility
- social interaction

Submitted papers should be at most 12 pages long, with one additional page for references, in PDF format following the Springer LNCS style. Please submit your paper by May 18, 2015 via EasyChair for LORI-V. Accepted papers will be collected as a volume in the Folli series on Logic, Language and Information, and will later be considered for publication in a special issue of a prestigious journal.

For detailed conference information and registration, please visit the website:
LORI-V.

Organizers: LORI, National Taiwan University (NTU) and National Yang Ming University (YMU), Taipei, Taiwan

All inquiries concerning the submission of papers should be addressed to Wiebe van der Hoek (wiebe.van-der-hoek@liverpool.ac.uk) and Wesley Holliday (wesholliday@berkeley.edu). For questions concerning conference details, please contact conferenceonlogic@gmail.com.